

Misconduct as a Police Constable.

4. Nicholas Perry, a Police Sergeant, was convicted on the 8th instant of negligently allowing the escape of a prisoner named Chéung A-fú. In consideration of the Sergeant's long services and good behaviour, the Magistrate dealt with case leniently and inflicted a fine of only $10.

Breach of the "Public Gambling Amendment Ordinance, 1876."

5. Ch'an A-ning, a shopkeeper, and Wong A-kit, a farmer, were on the 7th instant each fined $50, in default three months' imprisonment, for keeping an office or agency for Pák-kòp-piú Lotteries in the house No. 231, Queen's Road West.

Larcenies.

6. Ch'an A-tsoi, a farmer, was convicted on the 3rd instant of stealing two water buckets, the property of one Li A-fát, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, the first and last two weeks to be in solitary confinement on rice and water, and the rest with hard labour. The accused was identified as an old offender.

7. Lo A-loi, a seaman, was convicted and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, the first and last fourteen days of which to be in solitary confinement, and the rest with hard labour, in addition to an exposure in the stocks for six hours, for stealing a piece of wood. The accused was identified as an old offender.
