This Standard Work on the Chinese Language constructed on the basis of Kanghi's Imperial Dictionary, contains all Chinese characters practical use, and while alphabetically arranged according to the sounds of the oldest dialect of China, the Cantonese, it gives also the Mandarin pronunciation, of all characters explained in the book, so that its usefulness is by no means confined to the Cantonese Dialect, but the work is practically complete Thesaurus of the whole Written Language of China, ancient and modern as used all over the Empire, whilst its introductory chapters serve the purposes of a philological guide to the student.

A Supplement, arranged for being bound and used by itself, and containing a List of Radicals, an Index, and a List of Surnames, was published and sold separately.
